

Cooking

I have a pen and paper,
That's all I need to cook
I have a pen and paper
I can cook up a wonderful hook

The concept of cooking is simple,
It needs no pots or pans
It doesn't need an oven
It doesn't need to be like my nan

But, my nan can really cook,
That is very true
Her cakes are just delectable
And she can make a mean stew

My dad, oh, my dad,
He is amazing, I'm not lying
His fufu would take me to the moon
If he owned a shop, I'd never stop buying

They had their pots, they had their pans
They had all the equipment
But with me, the concept of equipment
Has quite a bit been bent

Now, people talk of tradition and genes
Things that are passed down generations
But I have broken that theory
That is not a passable sensation

People talk of ingredients
There needn't be any confusion
The only ingredients I need to cook
Are a beginning, middle and conclusion

I have a pen and paper
That's all I need for a stew
I have a pen and paper
That's all I need to feed you
